Antonín Dvořák Theatre

THEATRES

23 ANTONÍN DVOŘÁK THEATRE 'DIVADLO ANTONÍNA DVOŘÁKA'

This neo-Baroque building, designed by the Viennese architect Alexander Graf, is one of the most beautiful theatres in the country. It also boasts superb acoustics, and has recently been completely restored to its former red-and-gold glory. Boasting opulent neo-Baroque interiors, the theatre was actually built on a reinforced concrete frame, mounted on a concrete foundation above a former coal mine. The methane vent outside the main entrance - essential for the safe dispersal of mine gases - is a reminder of the site's industrial history.

OSTRAVA PEOPLE

...On 24 January 1933 Igor Stravinsky arrived in Bohumín on the night train. Jaroslav Vogel was waiting to take the composer to Ostrava. As the pair drove into the city, silent under a fresh blanket of snow, Stravinsky joked: "Ostrava sleeps, unaware of who is coming to disturb its peace." On Thursday 26 January Stravinsky gave a performance of his piano pieces. The concert was sold out and took a record amount of money (14 344 crowns). It was broadcast by all Czechoslovak radio stations...

...Oldřich Nový (a much-loved Czech film actor from the 1920s and 1930s) enjoyed flirting with Ostrava's society ladies at the Academia coffee-house, where he was a regular guest. One morning in the early hours, he was seen climbing over a fence, obviously in a merry mood, and then serenading Ostrava's main square with a night-time song...

...radio interviews with the popular Czech writing and acting duo Jan Werich and Jiří Voskovec were often conducted in the Elektra coffee-house, one of their favourite cafés...
...When the German avant-garde composer Paul Hindemith visited Ostrava, the city's cultural elite was waiting to welcome him at the 'U Rady' pub. Hindemith later described himself as 'a regular in Ostrava', and a plaque commemorating his visits can be seen in the historic pub today...

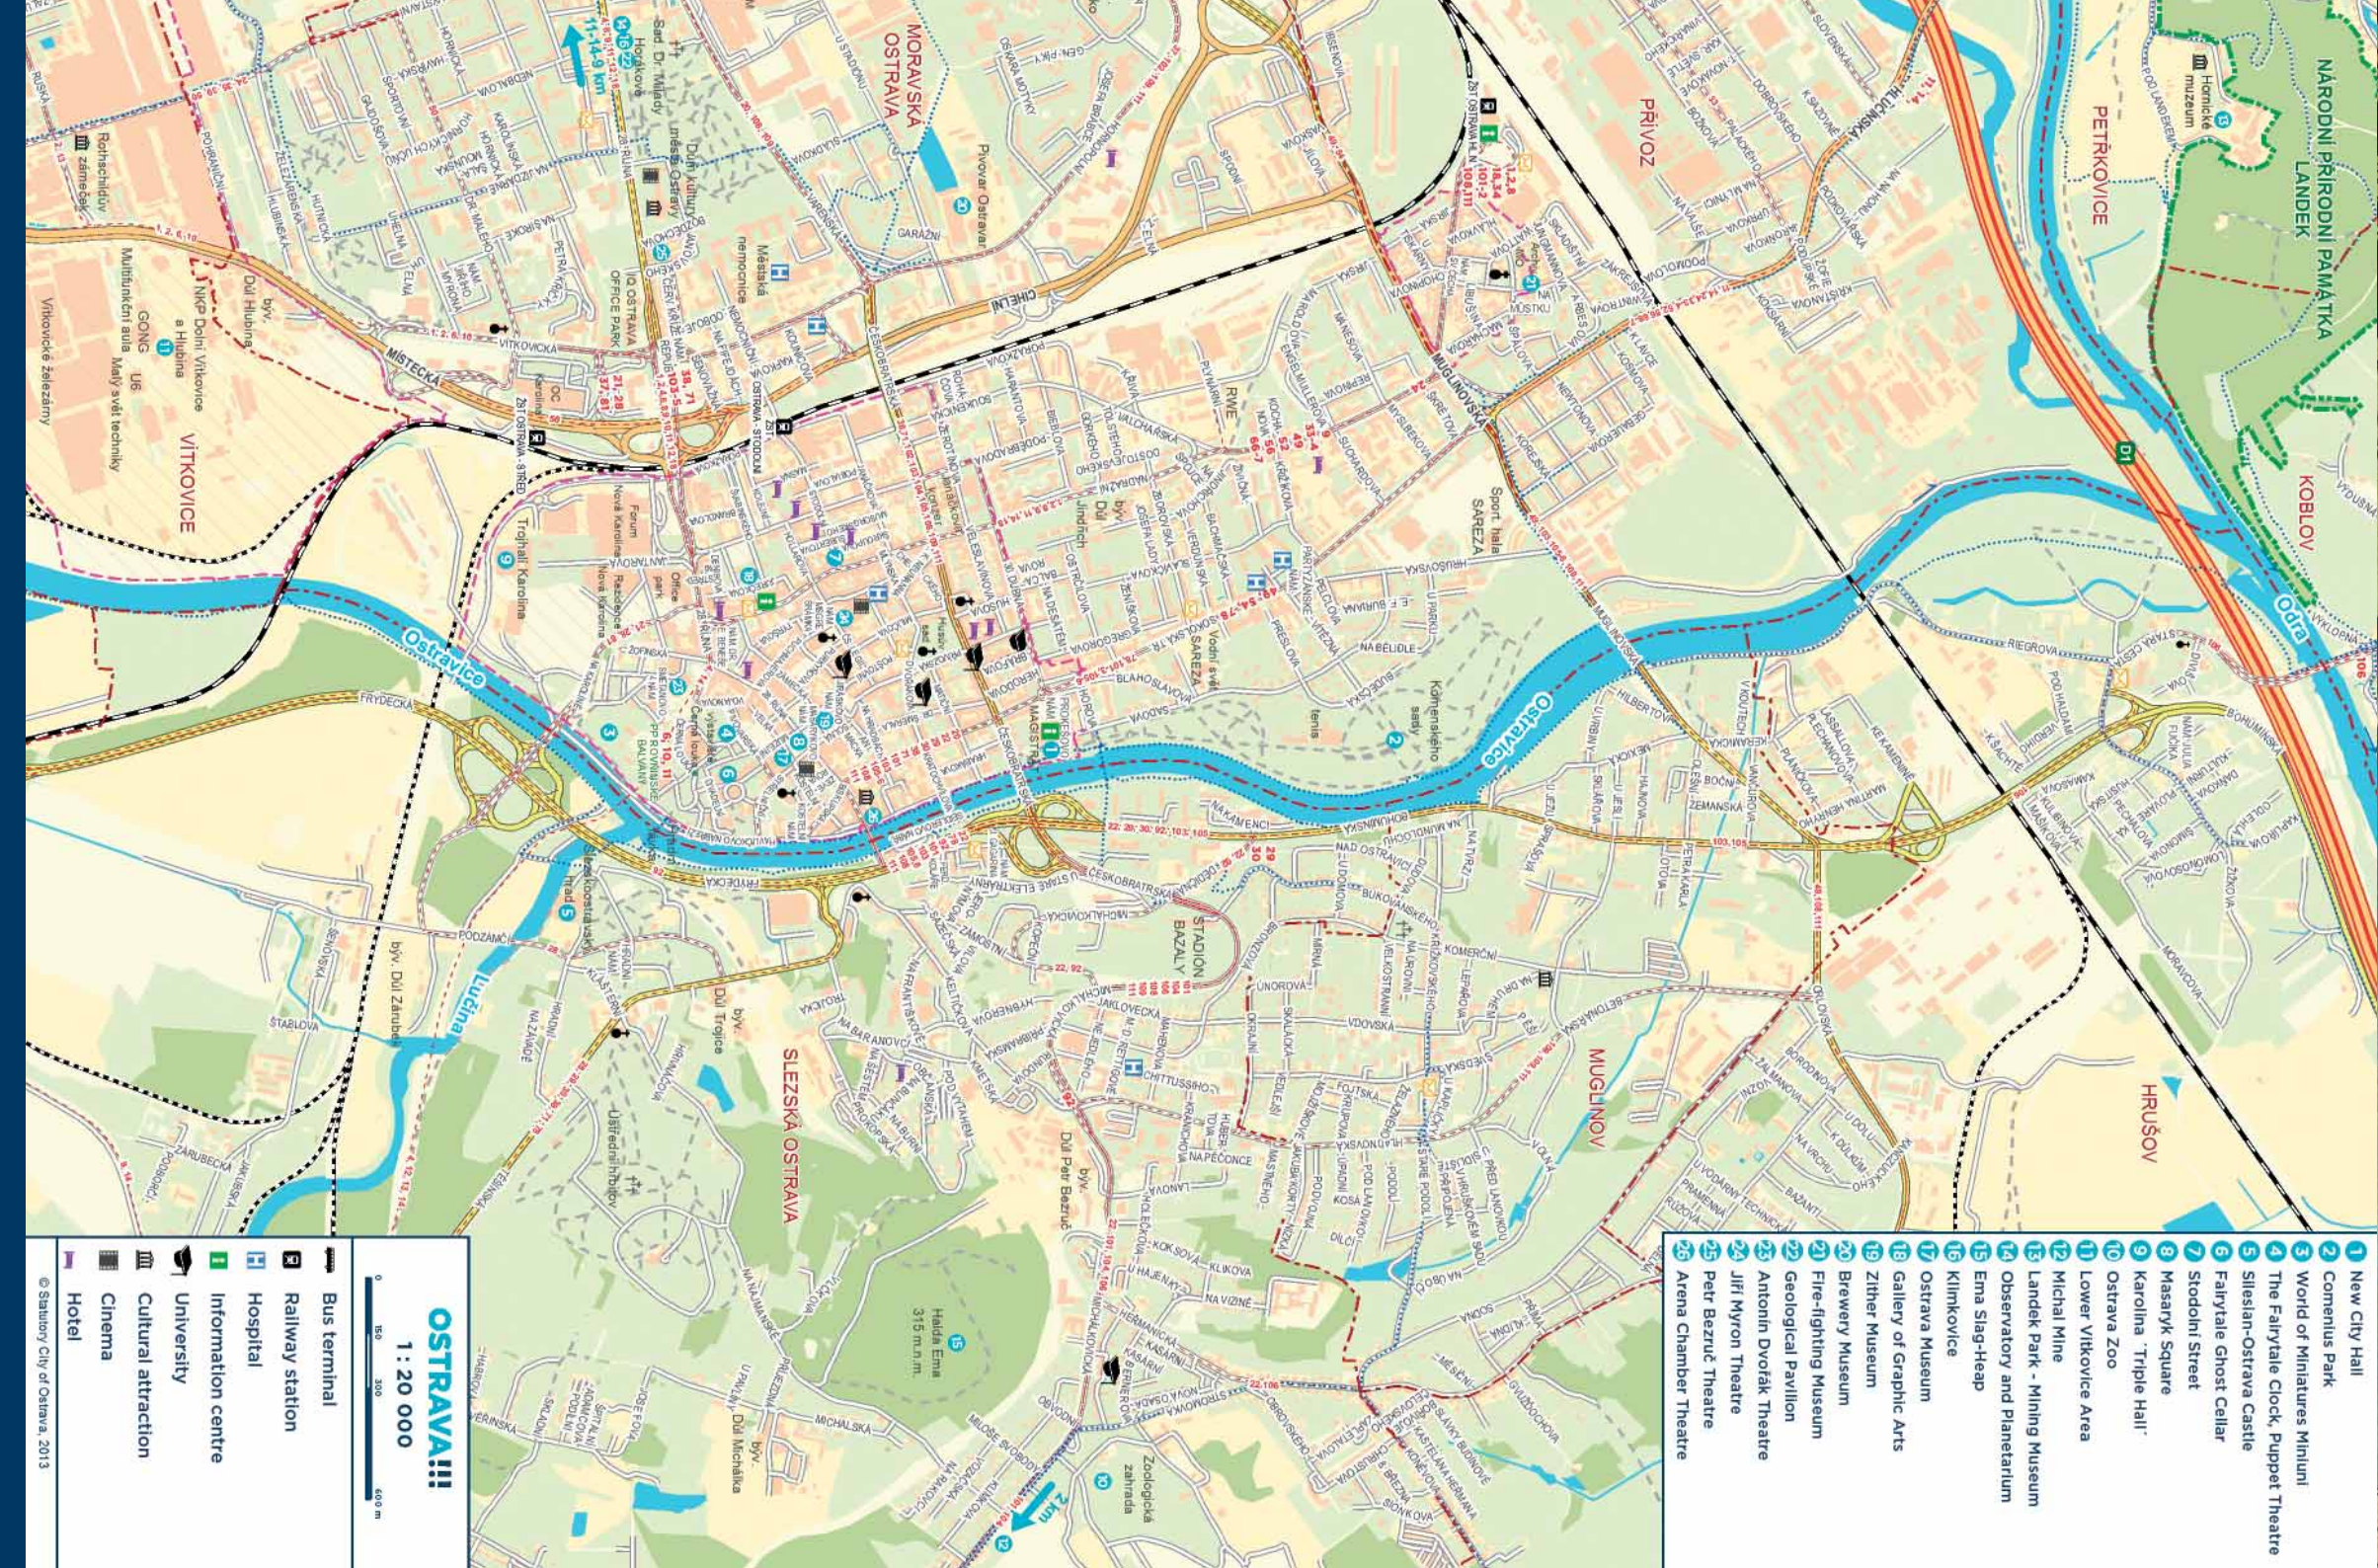

... "I feel at home here", says Jamaican sprinter Usain Bolt...
... Ostrava poet and songwriter Jaromír Nohavica sings: Wherever fate has taken me the birds in the sky all fly towards you Ostrava, Ostrava...

5 SILESIAN-OSTRAVA CASTLE 'SLEZSKOOSTRAVSKÝ HRAD'

The castle is located at the meeting point of the Ostravice and Lučina rivers in the very heart of the city, just a short walk from Masaryk Square. Over the years the castle has sunk 16 metres due to the collapse of underground mine tunnels. Now it is a favourite year-round venue for a range of events, especially for families with children. The castle also hosts Ostrava's renowned summer Shakespeare festival.

11 LOWER VÍTKOVICE AREA 'DOLNÍ OBLAST VÍTKOVICE'

Vítkovice is a unique world right in the heart of the city. Formerly a huge steelworks complex, it has now been converted into a major tourist attraction - a glass lift takes you almost to the top of blast furnace 1, from where just a few more steps give you a wonderful panoramic view of Vítkovice and the whole of Ostrava. Take a guided tour of the complex to learn more about Vítkovice's history (closely connected with the powerful Rothschild family) and to see the inside of the blast furnace, the energy exchange unit, the compressor hall, the changing rooms at the old coal mine, and of course the Gong - the stunning new multifunctional hall created by transforming a historic gas holder. A fascinating technical museum - and other attractions - are coming soon!

15 EMA SLAG-HEAP 'HALDA EMA'

On the right bank of the Ostravice River, at 315 metres above sea level, a secret corner of Ostrava offers a subtropical climate. The snow never settles in winter, while flowers bloom all year round. This mysterious place is the Ema slag-heap, a man-made hill formed of waste from the nearby coal mines. Smoke and steam still rise up from cracks in the ground - the slag is still burning deep beneath the surface. Once at the summit, you will be rewarded with a wonderful panoramic view of Ostrava. Take the yellow-marked path to discover Ostrava's very own volcano!
